Significant Strength:

Teaching of performing and creative arts

The designation of “Significant Strength” is awarded only when a school demonstrates something truly extraordinary, benefiting the entire student body. This is a rare accolade, reflecting the exceptionally high standards set by the Independent Schools Inspectorate.

The ISI 2024 report emphasises ArtsEd's dynamic performing arts provision, delivered by professionals with high expectations. Students meet these challenges with energy and dedication, producing outstanding work both in class and on stage.

“
Pupils have a sense of responsibility; they apply effort to their work and are self-motivated and ambitious.”

“
The teaching of performing and creative arts is inspiring and informed by current professional practice.”

'ArtsEd Curriculum':

The inspectors also highlighted key attributes of our students and staff, recognising the importance of the unique 'ArtsEd Curriculum', our ethos, values, and pastoral care. These together create a supportive environment for student growth, well-being, and achievement.

“

Inclusion and diversity are prioritised by leaders with the recent appointment of staff and pupil equality, diversity and inclusion leads.

“

Leaders plan a curriculum through which pupils study a wide range of academic and vocational subjects. Pupils develop linguistic, mathematical, scientific and technological skills.

“

The curriculum, school policies and school activities encourage and support an ethos of mutual respect where pupils appreciate the individuality of others and feel they can be their natural selves.

At ArtsEd, we are proud to provide an education that seamlessly blends academic rigour with outstanding performing arts training, as highlighted in our recent ISI inspection. The recognition of our performing arts provision as a "Significant Strength" reflects the exceptional dedication of our staff and the ambition of our students. We look forward to welcoming talented young people to audition and seeing them develop and grow their creativity, confidence and potential.
